

THE circus came to town, bringing with it a fun-packed day for visitors to Rhyl.

Tricks, treats, and entertainment were all laid on by Rhyl Town Council as part of their Circus Saturday free community event.

From a stilt-walking ringmaster to magic and circus skills, the High Street event had something for all ages. Among the highlights was an appearance from the Bloco Sŵn drumming band and their giant parrot puppet which swooped over delighted visitors.

Punch and Judy shows, hoola hoop sessions, a stilt-walking circus ringmaster, caricaturist and traditional games added to the mix.

Rhyl Mayor Cllr Ellie Chard said: "Circus Saturday brought a great show to Rhyl's High Street with activities for people of all ages. Our free community events always go down well, and this was no exception.

"It was lovely to see families enjoying some old-fashioned fun and games together, learning new skills, having a go at activities and soaking up the entertainment from the Bloco Sŵn drumming band."

The one-day event leads the way into a packed few weeks of activities with August set to be a bumper month for Rhyl-based festivals.

As well as running its own community events, the town council supports the Denbighshire County Council-organised annual air show and Summer Soul music festival.

“We are seeing more and more people visiting Rhyl and there are lots of things to see, do and experience. The town now has an enviable annual calendar of events and we are looking forward to another busy summer ahead,” added Cllr Chard.
