

SCORES of families will be able to get into the festive spirit with a free event that promises to be simply magic.

Taking centre stage at Rhyl Town Council's last community event of 2019 will be a 7ft robin which will set feathers flying. The giant feathered friend will be just one of the stars of the show at the council's Christmas cracker of a party to be held at Rhyl Town Hall on Saturday December 7.

With magic, games, a disco and a surprise visit from a special guest, 200 tickets are being given away for free enabling children to start the countdown to Christmas in style.

Rockin' Rhyl will round off a year of successful events organised by the town council.

Rhyl mayor Cllr Ellie Chard said: "Throughout 2019, the town council has been behind a whole host of activities and the run-up to Christmas will be no different.

"We will be supporting the Christmas Pops concert which appeals to all ages, helping put on the Christmas lights switch on and hosting Rockin' Rhyl, an end-of-year party for the town's younger children.

“Rockin’ Rhyl will be full of laughs, surprises and more than a little Christmas magic. Tickets are likely to be snapped up quickly, so we’d encourage everyone to keep an eye out for ticket details.”

Tickets for Rockin’ Rhyl will be available from November 1 via links on the town council’s Facebook and Twitter feeds.

Ahead of the tickets being released, the council will bring free Halloween activities to the high street. Stilt walkers, giveaways, and free face painting will be on offer between 11am and 2pm on October 31.
